Magnolia Compress Is Threatened By Early Morning Blaze

BIRMINGHAM MAN HEAD OF CONCERN

All Available Engines Are Concentrated By Firemen

(Associated Press)

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 28.—Flames swept a unit of the Magnolia compress and warehouse company here early this morning and left a cotton loss of $62,500 in its wake.

Five hundred bales of cotton were burned or damaged, company officials estimated, though no accurate estimate can be made until later in the day when records become available. The fire broke out shortly after midnight. Before they were discovered the flames had gained serious headway and every available bit of equipment was sent to fight the blaze.

The fire threatened serious proportions, but as a stiff breeze died down, firemen were able to gain control.

The fire is believed to have started in a former used car exchange, abandoned several months ago and used for cotton storage. Fanned by a high wind, the flames spread to a portion of the compress building. The blaze was confined to a single block.

W. D. Nesbitt, of Birmingham is president of the company.

Blaze Takes Life

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 26.—Warren Moore, 40, shipping clerk, was burned to death, T. C. Smith, 35, his assistant, was seriously injured in a fire which early today virtually destroyed the Coca Cola Bottling plant here. J. W. Taylor, wife and eight year old son, barely escaped with their lives.

Moore and Smith were occupying a room on the third floor of the building housing the plant, and the Taylors were asleep in another room. When firemen arrived, they found Smith hanging out of the window, evidently overcome by smoke and before they could raise a ladder to rescue him, he toppled out on the sidewalk, breaking his back in the fall. He was removed to a hospital. Firemen awakened the Taylors and they fled in their night clothes, according to police reports. They were uninjured.

Smith is married and has a family at Lawrenceville, Ga. He was spending the night with Moore, who lives in the room in which he died.

Moore's body had not been recovered at an early hour today. Early estimates placed the fire loss at $200,000.

One Dead, Another Injured In Wreck

OPP, Ala., Oct. 28.—John H. Hall, of Esthonia, Ala., was killed instantly and Jesse Lee, of Opp, was injured painfully when a car, driven by Hall ran into Lee's car, which had stopped on the roadside for repairs. The accident occurred on the Florida highway, six miles from Opp, last night. Lee was knocked down and run over by his own car while Hall was thrown several feet.

Less Rain, More Sunshine Helps Cotton Farmers

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Crop and weather conditions in Southern states for the week ended yesterday were summarized today by the department of agriculture as follows:

"Less rainfall and more sunshine over the western half of the cotton belt made better conditions for harvest, especially in the northwestern portion of the belt. In the eastern belt heavy rains the last half of the week caused some interruption to picking and ginning and lowering of grades, especially from Tennessee eastward. No material frost damage has occurred.

"Cotton made but little new growth in Texas and the prospect for a top crop is still unfavorable because of weevil and worms and late bolls are opening slowly due to the cool weather. Picking and ginning made fair progress, but dry and sunshine is needed. In Oklahoma generally fair weather checked the deterioration of staple and permitted satisfactory progress in picking and ginning.

REASON GIVEN WHY THE WOMEN PREFER AUTO TO MODERN HOME

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Escape from the monotony rather than the drudgery of the housewife's lot has caused her to choose luxuries instead of conveniences concludes the General Federation of Women's Clubs after a canvass on "What women want in their homes."

The average American housewife prefers an automobile and a telephone rather than have modern plumbing arrangements in her home, because "these offer relief from a monotony that has driven many of her predecessors into insane asylums."

The Federation's findings were written by Mrs. Mary Sherman, National president, in the Woman's Home Companion.

"The housewife does not mind washing stacks of dishes under the glow of an electric globe, but the task doubles or triples if she must do it by the smoky dim light from a kerosene lamp," said Mrs. Sherman. "She does not mind sweeping the lower floor of the house if she knows that at the end of her task she can sit down and chat via the telephone with a neighbor five miles away, and she will bear rugs for an hour—the evening brings the relaxation of an automobile drive."

While 65 per cent of a large number of homes investigated were found to have inside sanitary arrangements and 59 per cent of them had bathtubs, 70 per cent of these families had automobiles and 68 per cent of them were equipped with telephones.

The research made by the federation covered 445,987 homes scattered through 237 communities. In 40 per cent of the homes it was found that there were no stationary washbowls, and water had to be carried in and out and 25 per cent of them were not even equipped with kitchen sinks. But 87 per cent had electric light, and 73 per cent were equipped with electric irons.

Radios were found in 17.6 per cent of the homes, pianos in 46 per cent and phonographs in 50 per cent.

In discussing the high percentage of homes equipped with automobiles and telephones but not with plumbing, Mrs. Sherman declared:

"Sentimentalists will say that the fault lies with the men. But we club women who study conditions from the inside of the home understand the situation better. Women no longer undervalue their services in the home. They run their homes on the budget plan and have personal allowances to spend as they like.

"In Louisiana and Mississippi and Alabama there was some interruption to picking by rain the latter part of the week and the heavy rainfall again caused suspension of this work in Tennessee, with further damage to open cotton. Rain lowered the grade in North Carolina the latter part of the week, but the increased moisture has improved citrus fruit in Florida, including the satsumas in the east gulf sections, although more rain is needed in some coast districts.

"Progress and condition of cane are very good in Texas, but this crop is ripening slowly, with a slow sugar content in Louisiana. Tobacco stripping is underway in many sections.

"In Alabama there was killing frost in northern portions which damaged vegetation locally. General rains the latter part stopped harvesting corn and cotton and damaged those crops locally. The sowing of oats became general. Picking cotton made good progress until stopped by rain. Practically finished, except in some northeast localities. Ginning progress good."

"Then why do they choose luxuries instead of conveniences? Why does the automobile take precedence over the stationary tub, the telephone over the vacuum cleaner and the radio over the power-run sewing machine?"

"Because the housewife for generations has sought escape from the monotony rather than the drudgery of her lot. She can and does endure toil, actual physical labor, patiently and cheerfully; but she breaks physically and nervously under monotony. The automobile, the telephone and the talking machine or radio offer the modern home-maker the escape from that monotony which drove many of her predecessors into insane asylums."

TWO BIRMINGHAM SAFES ARE ROBBED

One Safe Blown and the Combination Worked On the Second

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 28.—Burglars smashed one safe and worked the combination of another within 200 yards of it and made away with approximately $800 in Norwood early this morning.

At the Birmingham Awning and Tent Works the men entered through a rear door. The safe, containing about $400 in cash, a Liberty bond and a quantity of war savings stamps, was rifled, but checks were piled on top and left behind.

Cutting across a field to the Melrose creamery, on North 26th street, officers believe the same men broke open the grating in a side window and entered. A large combination upon the safe from the creamery company was ripped from the door, and $200 in cash was taken.

ATTORNEYS FIGHT BITTERLY FOR LIFE OF ROAD OVERSEER

Trial of Tuskegee Man Attracts Big Crowds To Courtroom

STATE ATTEMPTS TO SHOW MOTIVE

Prosecution Advances Theory of Another Woman

(Associated Press)

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Oct. 28.—Every effort known to criminal attorneys was put forth today by the prosecution in its attempt to convict J. T. Cherry, Macon county road overseer, for murder in connection with the death of his wife.

The trial is filled with sensations and when court convened this morning the courtroom was filled.

The state devoted practically all of yesterday's session to an attempt to connect Cherry up with "another woman."

Mrs. Cherry, who was slain while at work in her kitchen, was practically an invalid. She was shot late one afternoon and Cherry went to the sheriff's office and reported that someone had shot her while he was transacting business at a nearby store.

The state is attempting to prove that Cherry wanted to be rid of his wife, so that he might live with another woman. While the prosecution is putting forth all efforts to produce some strong evidence against Cherry the defense is working just as hard to break it down.

Practically all of yesterday morning's session was consumed in drawing a jury.

KIWANIS RETURN FROM SELMA MEET

A Colorful Delegation Represented Twin Cities There

Speeding over Alabama highways toward Albany-Decatur, representatives of the Albany-Decatur Kiwanis club were expected to arrive late this afternoon or tonight from Selma, 1925 convention city of the Alabama Kiwanis clubs. The Twin City representation was declared to have been one of the most colorful delegations attending the two day session. Fifteen local business men made the trip overland to Selma.

Preceding the return of the Kiwanis, the news of the selection of J. W. Clopton, Decatur manufacturer, as district lieutenant governor, became known here Tuesday immediately following his selection for the first district of Alabama. He succeeds Mr. Baxter Huntsville man who has held the position for the past year.

Albany-Decatur Kiwanians making the trip included: J. R. Daniell, T. M. Dix, H. R. Davis, Lester Sheffield, J. B. Harlow, J. W. Clopton, Charles Rountree, Dr. L. A. Neill, A. D. Cohen, J. F. Lovin, T. Z. Bailey, Dr. B. F. Austin, M. R. Rankin and S. M. Thompson. The Kiwanians went on a mission of good fellowship and city building and made it understood that Albany-Decatur is the coming city of the northern section of the state.

DR. N. C. DOSS KILLED AS TRAIN GOES OVER 25-FT. EMBANKMENT

FUNERAL FOLLOWS IN ATLANTA, GA.

Seventeen Succumb As Flyer Crashes Near Memphis, Tenn.

Telegraphic advices were received late Tuesday night by J. R. Doss, well known local business man, of the death of his brother, Dr. N. C. Doss, Atlanta, Ga., who was killed in the wreck of the Sunnysland, St. Louis and San Francisco train, derailed near Victoria, Miss., late Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Doss left today at noon for Birmingham, proceeding to Atlanta, funeral arrangements had not been made. The deceased is also a cousin of J. G. Boggs, local man.

Mr. Doss said this morning that his brother remained in the wreckage for five hours before it was discovered that he was missing. Search revealed the body of the Atlanta physician. Dr. Doss was making a trip from Orlando, Fla., to Kansas City, having left his family at Orlando. He is survived by his wife and four children.

According to the story given out today by the Associated Press, an invisible defect in a 96 pound steel rail is held responsible for the loss of 16 lives and more than 50 injured. Seven are said to be critically injured.

The accident occurred near 30 miles south of Memphis, the train being derailed and smashed down a 25 foot embankment. Four Pullman sleepers, a chair car, a combination negro coach and smoker with the baggage express and mail cars hurtled down the embankment and into a ravine, telescoped and pounded by the impact into a mass of tangled wreckage.

The Associated Press gives the following account of Dr. Doss death:

With the exception of one man all of those killed were riding in the chair car and the combination negro coach and smoker. N. C. Doss, Orlando, Fla., a real estate salesman, was found dead in his berth in one of the Pullman sleepers. His body was not extricated until five hours after the wreck occurred when a wrecking train derrick lifted another coach so that rescuers could get the body. The conductor, J. W. Ryan, was passing between the chair car and the smoker when he was killed. The ends of the two coaches were smashed in as they hurtled down the embankment. He apparently was instantly killed.

Imbedded In Clay

None of the men in the baggage, express or mail cars were seriously injured, notwithstanding the fact that the cars were of wooden construction and fell from a trestle at the end of the embankment, a distance of probably 30 feet. The cars were badly smashed. The baggage car went into the ditch top side down and imbedded itself in the soft clay.

The greater number of those killed were in the chair car. This coach was hurled from the embankment, twisted completely around and thrown probably 75 feet, crashing into a tree and rebounding several feet.

Of the seven Pullman coaches, the Jitmoir, Argonne, Red Granite, Seabago, Iris, Greeley and Nemours, all with the exception of the Nemours left the rails and landed at various

BROADUS INCIDENT FOLLOWED BY SUIT SEEKING DAMAGES

Plaintiff Alleges That He Was Imprisoned In Albany Jail

TRIAL BY JURY IS DEMANDED

Declares That He Had Suffered Mental Pain By Action

Two warrants against each of the three officers were in the hands of county officers this afternoon. One warrant charged false imprisonment and the other charged assault and battery.

E. E. Thompson, J. M. West and Robert Stewart, officers of the City of Albany, today were made defendants in a suit for $5,000, jointly and separately, filed by S. A. Lynne, attorney for John Broadus.

The complaint alleges the plaintiff suffered "great humiliation, great mental and physical pain," as result of an incident alleged to have occurred Sunday evening, when Broadus was said to have been arrested and imprisoned, while on his way home from attending church services at the Central Baptist church.

The complaint follows:

COMPLAINT
John Broadus, Plaintiff, vs. E. E. Thompson, J. M. West and Robert Stewart, Defendants.

Count 1.—The plaintiff claims of the defendants, jointly and separately, the sum of five thousand dollars, ($5,000), damages for unlawfully arresting and imprisoning the plaintiff, on the charge of being drunk on the streets of the city of Albany, said imprisonment being in the city jail of the city of Albany, Ala., where the plaintiff was confined for several hours and because of which he suffered much humiliation and great mental and physical pain, and which said arrest and imprisonment took place on October 25, 1925.

Count 2.—The plaintiff claims of the defendants jointly and separately five thousand dollars damages for an assault and battery committed by the defendants on the plaintiff viz on October 25, 1925.

Count 3.—The plaintiff claims of the defendants jointly and separately five thousand dollars damages for maliciously and without probable cause, therefor arresting plaintiff on October 25, 1925, and imprisoning the plaintiff in the city jail of Albany, Ala., on a charge of being drunk, that the defendants carried the plaintiff through the public streets of the cities of Decatur, Ala., and Albany, Ala., and confined him for several hours in said city jail and because of which the plaintiff was caused to suffer much humiliation and great mental pain and distress all to his damage as aforesaid.

Hundreds of Daily readers are looking forward to Thursday and the beginning of "Bobbed Hair"

Thursday, The Daily is beginning that interesting and all-absorbing story of an American girl, with two American lovers, "Bobbed Hair." The Daily is pleased to offer such a story to the thousands of readers within the cities and in the vast trades territory which The Daily reaches. We predict that the greatest number of Daily followers will enjoy this story than have enjoyed the stories which we have offered heretofore.

Strictly American, independent, thrill-loving, adventurous, cultured, that's Connemara Moore, the red-haired heroine of "Bobbed Hair." Like all women, she has her own perplexing problems that refuse to work out no matter how hard she may attempt to find a solution. Finally she takes matters into her own hands and—but that's for you to find out a little later on.

How does she choose between the two men, the man who waits for his acceptance, when she bobs her hair, the other who is promised her hand if she does not appear with shorn locks? What would you do, faced with a similar circumstance? You had promised them to make a decision, but found that a decision was a great deal more difficult to reach than you had expected to find?

That is the problem as it faces Connemara. All the advice given freely by her home folks does not help her to find the solution, she cannot even carry out her promise to her two lovers, immediately, she does not know which one she loves.

Call The Daily office today, Albany 46, have this delightful story brought to your

Carter Writes Of Chinese Trouble

Harry Carter, former Albany-Decatur resident, now serving as a missionary in China, appears extremely optimistic though the country in which he is located is the very center of revolutionary activity. Mr. Carter in writing to home folks declares that he is in no more danger than the folks in ordinary walks of life at home.

The following authentic account of the Shameen trouble is given by Mr. Carter through the report of the Danish consul which he believes to be the most accurate:

Report of Danish Consul to his Government, written two days after Shameen occurrence.

"By the present I have the honor to report on what took place here on the afternoon of Tuesday the 23rd instant, when the Chinese held a procession demonstrating against the foreigners for the abolition of the existing treaties and extra-territorial rights.

"To start with, it is well to mention the events leading up to the unfortunate affair on Tuesday the 23rd.

"On the 6th of June a battle started between the Canton government troops and the Yunnanese, who had occupied Canton City in an endeavor to overthrow the existing red government headed by Civil Governor Hu Han-min. The Yunnanese were defeated and driven out on the 12th of June, and the Canton government proclaimed that peace and order would now be restored for the benefit of the people. However, towards the end of the following week it was clear that student agitators were busy fomenting a strike against the foreigners under the pretext of sympathizing with those killed in the Shanghai affair of May 30th, and on Saturday the 20th the usual British steamer from Hongkong failed to put in an appearance, the crew having gone on strike in Hongkong. At the same time rumors got about that all Chinese servants employed by foreigners on Shameen would cease work the following day, and on Sunday morning the 21st all servants left their employ. On Monday all crews employed on foreign owned motorboats and launches walked out, so that by this time the island was entirely deserted of Chinese and the foreigners practically cut off from communication with the outside world. On Monday it was further known that the Chinese students and others intended holding a procession on the following day as a demonstration against the foreigners, and it leaked out that at a meeting held at the Kwangtung University the agitators were determined to enter Shameen and would create an incident for propaganda purposes. H. B. M. Consul-General on hearing this immediately warned the Secretary for foreign affairs that any attempt made on Shameen would be met by armed force.

Preparations to meet any emergency were already made during the previous weeks fighting by the Municipal Council of the British Concession of Shameen by calling out Volunteers for special police duty, and the actual defense of the island was in the hands of British and French naval forces, who had erected sand-bagger machine posts at various points along the creek facing the city.

"During the morning of Tuesday the 23rd it was noticed from Shameen that autos passing along Shakee street—the street on the Canton side of the creek separating the island from the city—were distributing circulars and leaflets, which later on proved to be inflammatory pamphlets calling upon all and sundry to rise against the foreigners and drive them out of Shameen.

"The procession commenced shortly after 2 p. m. and I personally watched it from the verandah of the Victoria hotel facing Shakee from the beginning and was therefore an eye-witness of all that happened. The procession was headed by mounted and dismounted police and then came on in sections consisting of various units comprising students, laborers, boy scouts and a sprinkling of girl students, all waving flags and banners and shouting towards Shameen. One of the last units was headed by a brass band of small boys, this being said to be the Canton Christian College students.

"Up to this time the procession was perfectly orderly, and just resembled any ordinary similar political demonstration in Europe, in fact so much so that I remarked to a bystander on the orderly behavior of the crowd.

But at this point the aspect changed. After the college students had passed there was a gap in the procession of about a hundred yards, then came a unit flying a huge red flag and a red flag with a yellow star and scythe (said to be the Soviet banner.) This unit consisted apparently of laborers, gesticulated more threatening towards Shameen and yelled fiercer than their predecessors, and the next I saw was that a fully armed military force with arms at the slope and led by mounted officers followed in their rear. When these had reached the corner of the lane leading into the city from Messrs. La and Fung's I suddenly saw the Chinese crowd of spectators stampeded in wild panic, as if being warned of danger, and simultaneously the soldiers got their arms from the slope, cocked rifles and the first shots rang out. Bullets were flying all over where I was standing and I leaped for safety in through the hotel window where I had to take cover behind pillars against the rain of bullets aimed at the hotel. The fire was immediately returned by the British and French naval machine gun units posted along Shameen followed by the Shameen volunteers in the police station and hotel, and was aimed entirely at the attacking military forces across the creek, which were said to be the Whampoa cadets under their Russian leaders. The procession proper had when firing started reached the English bridge and were therefore out of the danger zone. The actual firing took place between the French and the English bridges and was kept up by the Shameen defenders for about ten minutes, while the troops on Shakee kept up intermittent sniping from the housetops for about an hour and a half after Shameen had ceased firing. The French gunboat stationed off the French Concession participated with about eight shots from their four pound guns, but I was later told they shot only blank shells, as a general warning. The casualties on the Shameen side numbered one French merchant killed several British and Japanese civilians and one British sailor wounded. As to casualties on the other side the figures were very conflicting, but must have been heavy.

"Later in the afternoon when firing had ceased I observed how the Chinese collected a large number of dead bodies, stripped of their clothes, in a small side street just opposite and brought a photographer along to photograph the scene. It is of course superfluous to enlarge on the purpose for this action.

"In view of the fact that the Canton government immediately after the incident saw fit to notify the Consular Body, and in particular the British and French Consular Representatives, that the firing had started from Shameen and that therefore the foreign authorities were responsible for the affair, I have availed myself of this opportunity to bring before H. D. M. Government the actual facts as seen by myself. There is not a shadow of doubt in my mind that the affair was pre-arranged, and the fact that fully armed troops in great numbers took part in an otherwise peaceful demonstration precludes any doubt as to the intentions of the organizers for which the Chinese government must be held responsible the more so as they were previously warned against the consequences of such an action."

(I also was on the verandah of the Victoria hotel when firing started, and remained behind one of the pillars of the verandah while firing was in progress, and I can vouch for everything in the statement, with the exception that I did not actually see the first shots fired, but here isn't a shadow of doubt in my mind but that this part of the statement is also correct.)

The Red Granite was prevented from going entirely over the wreckage of the Argonne. Mr. Doss was a passenger in the Jitmoir. The Nemours and the Greeley were without passengers. A W. Logan, assistant president of the Memphis division of the Pullman company, estimated the damage to the Jitmoir, the most seriously damaged of the Pullman cars, would amount to approximately $35,000. The total damage to the Pullmans was placed at about $50,000. The damage to the Frisco railroad equipment was placed at about $50,000, making the total approximately $100,000.

Hogs Destroy Long Leaf

In every long leaf pine district in the South the hogs destroy more value in timber than the hog crop is worth.

Any long leaf tree at twenty years old ought to be worth two dollars and a dollar and a half hog can destroy a dozen saplings in a day. If these dozen saplings were left alone, without cost to the owner of the land, they will be worth twenty to thirty dollars about the time the children are ready for college.

A stock law will pay every land owner in timber production more than the cost of the fences he would build.

Watch for spooks. Halloween is near.

For brevity and accuracy, the following advice from the Commercial Dispatch takes the cake: "Save—or slave."

We strive to ban those things which are most destructive. What are we to do about the automobile?

There is one row we will not have to get into. The Methodists are discussing the unification subject, pro and con, at Huntsville and we will not even have to listen in on the proceedings, other than from a long distance.

This is one time we are very happy that we are not occupying a seat in the highway commission offices or as an aide to the governor. We are not thinking of running from trouble, we merely like to avoid it if possible.

The government and congress has approved the building of the Tennessee River Bridge, so dispatches read Tuesday. As usual, about three to six months behind the progress of other business men, why do you suppose they cannot be on time for once?

Here is news. President Coolidge has proclaimed Thursday, November 26 as a day of Thanksgiving, saying that the United States has been brought with safety and honor through another year. Truly remarkable that the President of our republic should see fit to proclaim Nov. 26 as Thanksgiving. Our folks will see the turkey well eaten on that day, and heroes will shine for the last time on that date, but very few will ever think that they are giving thanks that the nation has been brought through another year safely. We take that fact for granted as we harken back to the days of the historic F. South Rock.

Life is a peculiar oddity when we stop to think about it. We are told that the darkest hour is just before day, that Pride goeth before a fall and when we see concrete examples given that these old axioms are correct we feel a sort of uneasy sensation creep up the spine and back again. Consider your own case, business good, competitors business below normal, folks happy as they come to your establishment to buy, then all at once there is a letup just as you were planning for expansion and building. People have stopped coming, they ask questions about your merchandise, no longer do they take your price, they compare with others, a great many buy elsewhere before they even consider your establishment. Which axiom are you then to follow—is it the first or the last? The best thing to do is to let the ship of Life rock along as it always has, do the best in fairness to all, add a profit and loss sheet to old man Experience's record and later things will turn out, possibly as you expected, but nevertheless odd in Life's peculiarities.

Proving to the outside world that Albany, Georgia, is a city of which its citizens are justly proud, the Albany Herald is on the Daily desk with a 164-page edition, in honor of the convention being held by state Kiwanian forces. The newspaper is one of the finest productions coming into the Daily office within some months, representing an outlay of time and effort which has been productive of result. The outside world rarely knows the great expense and worry which is attached to a special edition of this sort. The average reader looks at the paper and concludes that the newspaper has had a most profitable day, made thousands of dollars clear profit. Such is not the case, or newspapermen would not generally be looked upon as folks who lead a hand to mouth existence. However, that is not what we intended to say, we did not expect to open the portals of the edifice housing the newspaper family. We meant to say briefly that the Albany Herald is a distinct credit to the city in which it is published, a gigantic effort of worth and a sure sign that Albany has a progressive and aggressive citizenship.

Navy Day was observed over the nation last night, "radioactively speaking." Some of the foremost men in the country addressed vast unseen audiences last night and not a one of them failed to stress the importance of an efficient air force, our "flying Navy." Among the speakers broadcast from ten leading radio stations were Secretary Wilbur and Commander John Rodgers, late of the Hawaiian disaster. These men asked not that the Navy department be blamed for a lack of vigilance in seeing that the ships are in all readiness before a trip is made, they asked that flight leaders be absolved from all blame and that America get into line with other nations in preparedness in the air. On speaker explained that the army and navy is not maintained for the purpose of war, as a great many people seem to think, but as a guarantee of peace. The pages of history teach us that such an assertion is correct in every sense of the word, a nation which is prepared against invasion, is seldom invaded and America must continue to guard her sacred shores if the national life of prosperity, hope and plenty is to live on.

AN OBSERVATION THAT IS REALLY WORTH NOTING

In the columns of The Daily of Tuesday there was an observation made by Arthur Brisbane, best known of editorial writers, in his conclusion, that though a certain man who lived to be 152 years of age that he had lived less than a great many people live in an hour. How true is such a saying.

Many people do not attempt to escape the hazard of contentment throughout their lives. They are content to exist, live within themselves and let the rest of the world take care of itself. A fellow may take a long chance in this life and lose, yet he is to be given the credit for taking the long chance. He has really done more than the fellow who has sat idly by, taking his gain as a matter of fact, not turning a hand to help others, doing nothing, not even for himself. Such a character has not lived, such a character is no more Godly in spirit for having lived that way. It is not in the way we live, that counts the most, it is what we accomplish and in what manner it is accomplished.

CLOPTON'S SELECTION LOOKED UPON WITH FAVOR

The selection of J. W. Clifton as district lieutenant-governor of the first division of Alabama Kiwanis clubs is received here with a great deal of favor and interest. Mr. Clifton's candidacy was backed by Kiwanis clubs in this district because he has made a good record as a Kiwanian and as a builder for his cities. There has not been a single civic movement launched in which he has not played an active and efficient role. Kiwanians have not guessed wrong in selecting their man and the club from which he comes.

The Albany-Decatur Kiwanians went to Selma, to the state convention, full of vim and ready to place their cities on the state Kiwanis map. This they have done, as other cities will testify. A good delegation made the trip from here and they planted the flag of Albany-Decatur progressive spirit on the doorsteps of the convention city as well as in the hearts and minds of Kiwanians attending from other cities. We are glad that they made the trip in the spirit of builders for their communities, telling the state that Albany-Decatur is alive and interested in the building of the state. We are happy to learn of Mr. Clifton's selection as head of this district. He will serve as he has in the past, efficiently and willingly.

ARE THE REPUBLICANS CORRECT ABOUT THIS HIGH TARIFF PROPOSAL?

Speaking in Birmingham yesterday Robert E. Noble quoted from a letter written from Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers Record, to the effect that the South must advocate a high protective tariff if there is to be any benefit given to the southland. The occasion of this address was the gathering of southern Republican hosts in the Magic City, planning to break the Southern phalanx of Democracy and incidentally to discuss the tariff question, should it happen to be brought before the meeting.

Mr. Edmonds is a writer of high ideals and of noble convictions. He believes that the protective tariff will prove a benefit to the South else he would not make such an utterance. The Manufacturers Record is for the South's development. Every word printed about this glorious land of ours rings true with a note of optimism. Yet we doubt if high and low tariffs will play so vast a part in the history of the southern manufacturing records.

For years the issue before congress has been a high or a low tariff. With a Republican administration there has always been found a way to introduce a high protective tariff. The Democrats, once in the saddle, delight in turning around and placing the Republican work in the dead letter list and after all, is high and low tariff the issue with the people?

We doubt if the majority of people actually worry about high and low tariff. They are more interested in earning their daily bread, reading of accidents and murders, the price of winter's coal, and who left town today for a business visit. They are not worried over conditions as they stand, prosperity is general and they do not feel that there is need for tariff being made a national issue to any greater extent than it has been in times past. Democrats and Republicans in Congressional halls have had, through necessity, to have some point upon which they could not agree. There must not be an administration in which there is harmony between the two great national enemies. Congress would lose the spicy flavor of political stir were there not some point for debate.

Why, instead of considering the tariff question in all its magnitude, would it not be better for Congress to consider a final disposition of Muscle Shoals properties, the building of an air fleet that will protect this country through the coming years, measures for systematic enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, cutting down of Congressional salaries, removal of a great many unnecessary alleged functionaries? Would the tariff question loom in its greatness when such subjects as aforesaid stand out in Congressional routine?

There are a great many questions which concern Congress with far more importance than the question of a high and low tariff. The Republicans are in the saddle and a tariff to their taste is in effect—it looks as if there is to be a Republican regime to follow this one, with the Democrats sorely tried for a candidate worthy of the presidency and an organization which has the power to elect him; therefore, there will be the same tariff in effect until well past 1930, unless a "Democratic white hope" with a Democratic congress steps into leadership. Congress could accomplish a great deal more within the next few years if that august and just body will tend to the wishes of the people and let issues, with which the people are not deeply concerned, strictly alone.

The Congress of the United States is selected for work for the people and if they function in that manner there will be no need for fearing that the nation is nearing the gates of doom. Congress can shuck the coat and go to work in this next session and do enough in a few short hours to curb criticism of tariffs for the next ten years, if they will do it. The record remains to be written.

THOUGHTS OF THE WEEK

By J. A. West

MEMORY'S HOLY GROUND

Back in the archives of every one's memory, there is some spot which is regarded by them as holy ground; some place at which an altar has been erected, commemorating some event in their life, back to which a pilgrimage is made ever and anon, and out to which the mind instinctively returns and loves to linger around that shrine of the past.

The home of our youth is a sacred place, and although the years have shifted the scenes familiar to young minds and hearts, on the canvas of memory its outlines linger and the camera of the mind always loves to make pictures of that one spot, which meant so much to each one in that formative period of life.

The old school ground of the past is holy ground, for it was there the play-days of young life had away, and associations were formed, linked together in an inseparable chain, forged in the work shop of simplicity and sincerity as the golden hours of that period sped by on the wings of time.

The little path which led through the beautiful wooded dell, up the crest of some mountain, where youth knew the way, stopping along its borders to gather some of the wild flowers blooming there, listening to the carol of the birds; pausing as the gurgle of the brook made its ceaseless music; listening to the chirp of the crickets, catching the welcome of the golden rods waved a greeting, is holy ground, for it was childhood's play ground, and along those wild haunts of nature is clustered in golden sheaves some unforgettable memories.

The old country church with its "Silent City" nearby is holy ground, for childhood heard the words of the echoed from its quaint old pulpit and altho the years have passed by and multiplied as time goes on, some of the scenes enacted at these spots are as fresh today, as if but yesterday.

The "Silent City" is holy ground, for in the bosom of earth reposes the dust of our ancestors as time worn monuments mark the spot where they were laid out of our sight.

The old home town is holy ground. It may never have gotten on the map as a great manufacturing place; funnels of smoke may never be issued from smokestacks of industry, the shrill shriek of locomotive may never have echoed through her everlasting hills; no glistening spired church may never have been erected within her borders; no great college made with brick and mortar may have been the heritage of her children, but there abided the old church and the old school building, and the little quaint store buildings with the little back room with fireplace, where a warm greeting was always extended to all to partake of that hospitality.

Time has moulded many of these into ruins, but the spot can be located where great events happened in the lives of her children who dwelt there, and it is always pleasant and sad as well to make a pilgrimage back to the old home town, for it is holy ground.

CONSIDER FRAIL AND HUSKY EATERS

For the Sake of Health, Every Home Should Teach Good Cooking, Well Balanced Meals and Appealing Table Service.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

A FEW weeks ago the Restaurant Owners Association of New York offered a prize for the best recipes for corned beef and cabbage, chicken frites, sole, hash and "vegetable dinner." There were fifteen hundred contestants. The three who scored highest in each group were invited to appear in person to cook and serve their dishes.

On the given day the fifteen cooks, multitudes of their friends and champions, many restaurant owners, a battery of photographers, newspaper reporters and curious passers-by gathered in a great restaurant to witness the contest. I happened to be one of the judges. It was our delicate job to select the winner in each group. We inspected and tasted, conferred together and, to the joy of the winners, and, I fear, to the disgust of the losers, made our momentous decisions.

It was difficult to decide between the excellent dishes presented. In flavor and appeal to palate there was little difference between them. Every dish had been cooked by a capable, discriminating, experienced housewife. Every dish was a well balanced, scientifically accurate combination of foodstuffs.

In several instances the prize was given because of the appearance of the dish. Was this fair? I think it was because, in the last analysis, it is the eating of food which makes it useful. An attractive dish will gain the attention and command consumption when a greasy looking or sloppy dish will be rejected at once.

In this contest there was hesitation of decision between two samples of filet of sole. One had really a more delicate flavor than the other. But the latter was beautiful to look upon and only a shade inferior in taste.

For myself, as I said to the other judges, I imagined myself a patient in a hospital. My appetite was supposed to be impaired by reason of a severe illness and I had only then reached the point when my doctor said I should eat. Food was prepared. The best of materials was used. The combination was perfect. But the finished product offended the eye.

The stomach rebels unless the food is attractive in appearance. Without the stimulus of a rapid appetite, the result of hard manual labor, there must be an appeal to the eye, as well as to the palate. Only a blind man, or one hardened by familiarity, man, or one who has seen food in remote sections of the earth.

In preparing foods for the table we must consider the frail and fussy members of the family, as well as the huskies. Those in delicate health require food even more than do the hard workers. To keep them going and to build them up in health, attractive dishes must be served. Small quantities of food, neatly served, will coax the appetite.

MOTORIST KILLED; OFFICER ARRESTED

Member Of The Purity Squad Accused Of Murder

(Associated Press)

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 28—Richard A. Tate, 20, was shot and killed instantly here today by Policeman J. C. Goldsby, member of the police "purity squad."

The officer was charged with murder and later released on $500 bond, furnished by a fellow officer.

Tate and two companions were driving along Main street when the purity squad officers hailed their automobile, but they refused to stop, and a chase of several blocks followed.

Several shots were fired by the officers, two of the bullets puncturing the rear tires and a third striking Tate in the head. The machine finally was halted, when flat tires forced it to swerve into a tree.

The driver, R. H. Lane, jumped from the machine, but J. M. Swann was captured, before he could get away and Tate was found in a dying condition and expired before being taken to a hospital.

The authorities claim they found 31 gallons of whiskey in the car. Lane was arrested about an hour later and he and Swann were charged with illicit transportation.

Circle No. 1 of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Central Methodist church was the guest of Mrs. D. C. Adams and daughter, Mrs. Frank King on Monday October 27th. Vases of vari-colored fall flowers enhanced the beauty of the living room. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. M. Ford at three o'clock. Mrs. J. D. Hunter opened the program with a prayer. Minutes of the preceding meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. R. Brannum. Reports from various officers were heard followed by a general discussion of ways and means of increasing the treasury fund. A motion to adjourn carried. A social hour followed when the hostesses served dainty refreshments.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

The Decatur Parent-Teachers Association met on Monday afternoon at the Decatur high school building with the president in the chair. Regular reports were made from the chairman of the different committees. The program committee, Miss Odom chairman, responding with a program that was very instructive and helpful. The subject was "Ways that the Home Life may aid the school." and several contributed splendid papers including Miss Pearson, Miss Florence Tillman and Mrs. Paul Dix, one taking "Home Preparation for Studies" one "Attendance and Punctuality" and "Study at Home."

Mrs. J. D. Garren was elected a delegate from the association to attend the state convention to be held in Cullman on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and all others were urged to attend at least one meeting.

The matter of having Mrs. Benton McMillan of Nashville a lecturer of note, to come here and give a series of lectures, was discussed and was then left to be voted on at a subsequent meeting.

The condition of R. L. Hopkins who underwent an operation on Monday at the Moulton Street Infirmary is somewhat improved today.

MUSICALE A SUCCESS

The musical program given at Bencroft, spacious country home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Cortner about ten miles from the cities, was a decided success. It was given under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the Westminster Presbyterian church. Each number was rendered beautifully and at the close dainty refreshments were served.

DINNER FOR MR. AND MRS. HOLLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McCulloch entertained at dinner on Sunday complimenting Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Holland of Kerrville, Texas, who are visiting here.

W. C. T. U. MEETS

On Tuesday evening the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the Twin Cities met in a social meeting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Proctor with Mrs. W. H. Winton, the retiring president, in charge.

Thirty five members and guests made the hospitable home a busy, merry scene. After the devotional, Mr. Proctor and Miss Imogene Winton sang the song "Dr. Chas. Fillmore had made ringing through both towns last week, "Stand By the Boy," the company joining in the chorus. Mesdames Lovin and Black gave reports of the recent state convention, a most unique feature of which was that all departmental reports were given in pageant or demonstration form.

In the report of the department of Christian Citizenship a feature of the work was shown by a company of girls in uniform carrying into the church a patriotic streamer having the names of five thousand young people who during the year pledged allegiance to the Constitution and signed the Amendment.

Mesdames Black and Lovin in duet told how to secure subscribers for the National organ, The Union Signal. Two contests taxed the mental powers of the company. In both, Mrs. C. C. Davison was winner and was crowned and paraded before the guests.

Perhaps the greatest hour of the convention was the address of Mrs. Mary Harris Armour of Georgia, National Superintendent of Evangelism, when for two hours this the greatest living American woman orator held her audience with the "Conservation of the Youth" as her theme. During the refreshment period, vows of helpfulness were given the incoming president, Mrs. Fitzgerald, new members enrolled and a new year of work was ushered in.

TOTS HALLOWE'EEN PARTY

Association Plays 2 Vast Part In Lives Of Children

REST ROOMS ARE FITTED OUT

Cafeteria Features The Actual Work In The Schools

Two reports made public today through the Central Parent-Teacher Association will be of much interest to the parents of children now attending schools in Albany. It was explained that the two reports are handled separately by two treasurers. The work of the association aside from the cafeteria feature is shown as well as the accomplishment within the school building where hundreds of school children are served daily at the cafeteria.

One of the chief accomplishments of the association during the past year has been the fitting of rest rooms for faculty members of the local schools. The Gordon school rest room has not yet been completed. The new high school rest room has been in use for a short while, is comfortably furnished and is an important step in the advancement of the society.

Following are the reports of the treasurers:

Helpful Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and have gone out with a young man of my own age for about one year. Two months ago I suddenly lost all interest in him and we quarreled. Later he started to go about with another girl. We are on speaking terms now, and as he does not go with any girl I would like to win him back.

TEDDY B.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: If this young man has given up his other friends for you it is very evident that he is fond of you, Teddy. And under the circumstances you do not need to "win" him back, for he has been "won" already. I suggest that you do not limit your friendship, however. Meet your other friends, take an active interest in the social life about you and don't depend on one friendship alone—until you are engaged to be married.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am seventeen. I have known a girl for about a month. She lives in a city nearby and I would like to ask her for her address. How shall I go about it?

WAITING.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: When next you meet the young lady, ask her permission to write to her, and if she says "yes" you can then obtain her address.

ATTENDANCE BIG AS CONFERENCE OPENS

Favorable Vote Is Not Expected Now On Unification

(Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Oct. 28.—With the largest attendance of delegates and visitors in several years to the North Alabama conference of the Methodist Episcopal church South, started its sessions this morning with Bishop Warren A. Candler, of Atlanta, presiding. The opening session was devoted to preliminaries, committee reports and assignments but the body was down to the real work of the year this afternoon.

The matter of a vote on unification of the Northern and Southern branches of the church is regarded as already disposed of, although there is likely to be much discussion over the manner in which the vote is to be taken. There is no doubt a large majority of the vote will be cast against unification, proponents of unity admitting there is no chance of favorable action in this conference.

RETURNS THURSDAY

C. J. Randolph and A. H. Hoff who have been attending the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. being held at Washington, D. C., are expected to return either on Thursday evening or on Friday morning after having spent the past week in the national capital. Mr. Hoff went as a delegate from the state of Alabama, having been chosen as a delegate at a meeting held in Montgomery some months ago.

SHOALS DISCUSSED BY DIXIE GOVERNORS

Brandon Sounds Whole Keynote Of Opinion In His Address

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 28.—Muscle Shoals should be developed used to the best advantage of the agricultural industry of the nation, six Southern governors here, attending a conference called by Governor Henry L. Whitfield of Mississippi, agreed today.

Opinion was divided among the executives as to the management of the property but each conceded that the government should see that fertilizer is manufactured in quantities sufficient to supply at least the surrounding states.

Governor W. W. Brandon, governor of Alabama, in which the Shoals are located, voiced the keynote of the opinion of all the executives by declaring that "Muscle Shoals should be conserved for the advancement of the agricultural industry of the country."

He said that if the government can best accomplish this, it is desirable that the government retain control, but that if private ownership is able to prove that best results will come from management outside of the government, private ownership should be allowed to take over the property.

How Doctors Treat Colds and Flu

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsillitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

MILLION BAPTISMS HAD BY BAPTISTS

New Evangelistic Record for Nation for Five Years Set Up in South.

WOULD DEVELOP MEMBERS

Effort to Enlist Entire Constituency of 3,500,000 in Regular Giving Planned Soon.

More than one million new members have been received into the Baptist churches of the South by baptism alone during the past five years, according to a survey by Dr. E. P. Alldredge, statistical secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention. The exact figures, 1,037,550 baptisms, set a new record not only for Southern Baptists, but for any evangelical body in America, the records reveal. This achievement is equivalent to 24 baptisms for every hour, 576 for every day, 3,990 per week, 17,292 per month and 207,510 per year.

Prominent in the achievement of this result has been the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga. This board, organized eighty years ago, has, within that time, more than a million baptisms and 1,426,384 additions to the churches to show for the labors of its missionaries, while the agents of the board have within that period raised and disbursed in mission work in the South, Panama and Cuba the sum of $13,213,336.10.

Last 22 Years Productive

The larger part of these achievements of the Home Board has come during the past 22 years, covering the secretaryship of Dr. B. D. Gray. Under Dr. Gray's administration the workers of the board have baptized 662,497 persons, received 1,123,344 persons into the churches and organized 4,997 new churches. Within the same period the agents of the board have raised and disbursed in mission work the sum of $14,723,695.87.

The evangelistic department of the Home Mission Board has been its greatest single evangelistic asset. This department has been without an active head recently, but the board has just called to that position Dr. Ellis A. Fuller of Greenville, S. C., and he entered upon his work October 1. He is a young man of college and seminary training and has been unusually successful in soul winning and other phases of work as a pastor.

Southern Baptists have been far more successful in winning converts and church members than they have been in the general spiritual development of the members. It is pointed out in the hope of bringing about a development of the 3,574,531 members of the denomination to the point where all of them will have a share in supporting all the missionary, educational and benevolent work fostered by the denomination, an Every Member Canvass will be conducted in a majority of the 27,000 Baptist churches throughout the South, during the late fall and winter, the majority of the states employing the week of Dec. 6-13.

Would Enlist Every Member

The canvass will be conducted under the general auspices of the Cooperative Program, which is fostering state, home and foreign missions, the Baptist schools, hospitals and orphanages, and the work of ministerial relief. The ideal toward which the commission is striving is that of every member, giving every week to every cause in proportion to his ability, through his local church. As fully as possible individual Baptists are being urged to give a tenth of their income to Christian work.

So extensively have the various missionary and benevolent enterprises fostered by Southern Baptists grown in recent years that it now requires a minimum of $12,000,000 per year to keep the work growing. Each state is being asked to provide its proportionate share of this amount. The state boards, in turn, are asking the respective associations in their states to accept definite quotas for 1925, and the associations, in turn, are asking the local churches to assume a definite proportion of the associational objective for the year.

OPPORTUNITY TO EARN MONEY.

Spare or full time. Male or female. No canvassing. Experience unnecessary. Work at home. Write for particulars. Steber Machine Co., Desk AD, Utica, N. Y. M-W-F-5p

SPORTS

Pooley Hubert Picked As All-Southern As Result of Drive Against Tornado Saturday

Pooley Hubert, Crimson giant, has a great deal to be thankful for following the Alabama-Georgia Toca game of last Saturday in which the Crimson of the old south state was waved triumphantly from the tops of Atlanta hotels and Alabama chants were sung to the tune of the Washington and Lee "Swing." Pooley Hubert will receive all southern mention as the result of his championship play. He paled Douglas Wycoff into significance, he discounted all stories of the strength of the Crimson line in replacing his own men when tackles were coming his way. One sport writer even suggested that the Alabama line be moved to the backfield and Hubert allowed to play the whole line by himself. Hubert played a great game and won a fine victory for his school, though the real credit has gone to Mack Brown for his flashy 55 yard stepping to Alabama's lone score. Again it is the old story of the man under the guns getting little credit for his work. Mack Brown would have never traversed that last long mile had it not been for Barnes, a teammate, who is credited with stopping four Tech tacklers who were Brown bound. Mack Brown's dash even had it succeeded would have been of little worth had it not been that Pooley Hubert was in there working with the line and halting the Georgia Tech offensive one of the strongest and finest in the South. Hubert deserves his all southern mention.

Blinky Horn, Tennessean Sport writer has again fallen into the trash heap in predicting that the Commodores will find difficulty in the warriors of Ole Miss. Horn can find no reason for fearing the Mississippi machine at the present time so he harkens back to years when Lewie Hardage was tramping opponents under foot. Now there seems to be little reason for Blinky travelling the pages of history in any such careless fashion. The strength of Mississippi at that time certainly can throw no scare into Commodore supporters at this time. The men who wore Mississippi livery at that time are now having their goattes trimmed regularly at the corner barber shops, or drinking from old fashioned mustache mugs. The shot is far fetched.

Decatur high school will journey down to Arab next Friday to take a shot at Arab high school. Coach Grimes was in a dismal mood yesterday afternoon as he watched his charges go through the paces against Albany high school. Two of his backfield lights are reposing on the sidelines as the aftermath of the Fairview battle and the mimimative coach does not relish steeping against the heavier Arab line without the assistance of his full backfield.

What Will You Leave Your Children?
The farmers through this section can insure money for their children by taking care of their cut over land. Keep fires out of it, if it is long leaf keep the hogs out of it and fifteen to twenty years will grow timber that will bring money to start your children off in life.

If you have a bad stand of young pine it will pay you to scatter or plant a few seed.
You can gather your own seed or your demonstration agent will help get them from the government.
